PERSONAS RECONOCIDAS COMO VÍCTIMAS DE PRISIÓN POLÍTICA Y TORTURA

La Comisión ha reconocido la condición de víctima de prisión por razones políticas y de tortura a través de un proceso colegiado de evaluación de los antecedentes de cada caso en particular, dirigido a la identificación de elementos de juicio objetivos, que permitieran formarse convicción moral sobre dicha condición.

Cada caso y cada detención fue objeto de un riguroso proceso de análisis que comprendió la validación de la información proporcionada por los declarantes por medio de investigación documental, antecedentes provenientes de organismos públicos, referencias de organismos de derechos humanos, de organizaciones de víctimas, información de testigos calificados, investigaciones en bases de datos disponibles y, en un número significativo de casos, mediante una segunda entrevista a la víctima o a testigos.

Como se expone en el capítulo sobre los métodos de trabajo, un número considerable de personas que prestaron testimonio ante la Comisión adjuntaron certificados de los organismos que practicaron la detención o mantuvieron a los detenidos en recintos de su dependencia. Otras presentaron documentos tales como salvoconductos, tarjetas de control, certificados de la Secretaría Ejecutiva Nacional de Detenidos (SENDET), sentencias judiciales o piezas procesales que dan cuenta de la privación de libertad. Muchos casos pudieron ser verificados, además, en publicaciones de prensa aparecidas en la misma época de la detención de la víctima, la mayoría originada en fuentes oficiales, como comunicados de las distintas ramas de las Fuerzas Armadas, jefaturas de zonas, intendencias, Ministerio del Interior, Dirección Nacional de Comunicación Social (DINACOS). Otra fuente de información para la verificación de los casos fueron los registros de la Cruz Roja Internacional y los Informes de la Organización de Naciones Unidas, de la Organización de Estados Americanos y de la Organización Internacional del Trabajo. Se utilizó también la información recabada en los organismos nacionales de Derechos Humanos, reunida por éstos en los mismos días en que ocurrieron los hechos relatados, tales como el Comité de Cooperación para la Paz en Chile, Vicaría de la Solidaridad, Fundación de Ayuda Social de las Iglesias Cristianas (FASIC), Comisión Chilena de Derechos Humanos, Comité de Defensa de los Derechos del Pueblo (CODEPU), y Fundación de Protección a la Infancia Dañada por los Estados de Emergencia (PIDEE). Se recurrió además, en los casos que correspondía, al examen de procesos judiciales, especialmente a aquellos incoados entre los años 1980 y 1990.

En un gran número de casos, la Comisión reunió información y documentos adicionales a lo entregado por el peticionario. Igualmente, se analizó cada una de las detenciones sufridas por una misma víctima, ya que un número de ellas fueron detenidas o torturadas más de una vez. Cada uno de estos episodios ha sido calificado en forma independiente. Por ello, si bien se certifica un total de 33.221 detenciones, se reconoce la calidad de víctima a 27.255 personas.

La nómina incluye a todas las personas respecto de las cuales la Comisión ha alcanzado convicción moral del hecho de haber sido detenidas por razones políticas, sin considerar el tiempo que duró su privación de libertad. Así, se han comprendido aquellos casos en que la detención duró desde días hasta aquellos en que duró varios años. En promedio, las personas estuvieron privadas de libertad por 180,1 días. La comprobación de que las consecuencias de la prisión política y de la tortura no ha dependido necesariamente de su duración, sino más bien de sus características propias, como el tipo de recinto de reclusión, las condiciones de la prisión o la intensidad y métodos de tortura, ha determinado que en esta lista no se distinga por la duración de la prisión. Consecuentemente, el tiempo de prisión no ha sido considerado para las medidas de reparación propuestas.

Como se ha señalado, cerca de un 94% de los declarantes respecto de los cuales esta Comisión se ha formado convicción moral de que permanecieron privados de libertad por razones políticas, señalan haber sido víctimas de tortura. Sus testimonios son coincidentes en los métodos empleados, en los lugares, en los organismos a los que pertenecían los agentes y en otras varias circunstancias. El conjunto de estas coincidencias sirve de fundamento a la convicción moral que se ha formado acerca de la efectividad de la tortura que ha sido declarada.

Se ha tenido presente, también, el hecho de que en los primeros años del régimen militar no hubo posibilidad de denunciar las torturas. Sólo luego de algunos años, y cuando las violaciones a los derechos humanos no tenían la masividad del primer período, fue posible a las personas de localidades urbanas donde existían organismos de defensa encontrar la asesoría necesaria para denunciar las torturas.

No ha sido posible disponer de la acreditación de la tortura mediante informes médicos u otras formas de constatación de las lesiones o secuelas. Dado el contexto en que ocurrieron los hechos, particularmente en los primeros años del régimen militar, muy pocas personas recibieron atención de salud con el objeto de constatar las torturas y algunas permanecieron detenidas por largo tiempo luego de que ellas les fueran inflingidas, haciendo prácticamente imposible certificarlas.

Finalmente, tampoco ha sido posible calificar las situaciones de tortura de acuerdo a su gravedad. Luego de treinta años no es posible evaluar lo padecido por una persona de acuerdo a la calificación de su relato o escudriñar en sus recuerdos sin generar una nueva victimización. Por ello, reconociendo el sufrimiento de las personas, la Comisión ha estimado razonable definir una categoría común de víctimas.

La Comisión decidió calificar algunas situaciones especiales dentro de los casos reconocidos como víctimas de prisión política y tortura. Algunos de ellos se refieren a situaciones de personas que, siendo menores de edad, fueron detenidas junto a sus padres y en razón de la detención de éstos. Como se señaló al describirse las propuestas de reparación, la Comisión estimó que estas personas, que suman un total de 102, eran merecedoras de una medida de reparación económica diferente. A ellas se agregan las 11 personas que nacieron en prisión. Una categoría diferente son las 978 personas que siendo menores de edad fueron privadas de libertad por sí mismas y no por la detención de sus padres. Esas personas han sido consideradas en la categoría general de víctimas.

La Comisión recibió también los testimonios de personas que estaban en gestación cuando sus madres fueron torturadas, así como de personas que fueron engendradas producto de violaciones cometidas durante la privación de libertad de sus madres, lo que constituye también una forma de tortura. En todos estos casos, las madres dieron a luz cuando habían recuperado su libertad. La Comisión tiene la convicción de que deben ser consideradas como víctimas. Aquellas que estaban en proceso de gestación cuando sus madres sufrieron graves torturas se asimilaron a la categoría de los hijos nacidos en prisión y de los hijos detenidos junto a sus padres. Las que fueron engendradas producto de violación se consideran como víctimas directas. Con todo, y compartiendo el profundo rechazo por la inhumanidad que envuelven estos casos, el comisionado Lucas Sierra estimó que ellos se encuentran fuera del mandato de la Comisión. Esto, por cuanto a ella se le encomendó determinar las “personas” que sufrieron prisión por razones políticas y tortura, calidad que no puede predicarse de la vida intrauterina. Además de esta razón de principio, el comisionado Sierra agregó una razón relativa al criterio general seguido por la Comisión frente a los hijos de las víctimas de tortura. Es posible, sostuvo, que la detención y tortura de una madre haya tenido efectos devastadores en el hijo que quedó abandonado por esta situación, peores aún que los experimentados tras el nacimiento por el hijo cuya madre fue torturada durante el embarazo. En el primer caso, sin embargo, la Comisión ha seguido el criterio de no calificar a ese hijo como “víctima” por considerarlo fuera de su mandato. El mismo criterio, concluyó, debería aplicarse al segundo caso.

Otra categoría especial en los casos calificados corresponde a aquellas personas que permanecieron privadas de libertad al interior de sus domicilios, en ratoneras o en situaciones de arrestos domiciliarios debidamente certificados y en los que se acreditaron malos tratos, torturas o lesiones. Se trata de personas que estuvieron privadas de libertad y sometidas a una fuerte presión, violencia y en algunos casos torturas, durante días, aunque no hayan permanecido en recintos de detención. En todo estos casos se ha sido muy riguroso para dar por acreditados los hechos.

Finalmente, si bien el decreto que creó la Comisión y definió su mandato excluyó el caso de las personas detenidas en manifestaciones públicas y que fueron puestas a disposición de los tribunales de policía local o de algún tribunal del crimen por delitos comunes y luego condenadas por estos delitos, la Comisión interpretó esta definición en el sentido de incluir aquellos casos en que las personas, en alguna manifestación, fueron torturadas o sufrieron lesiones graves, sí correspondía reconocerlas como víctimas dentro de su mandato. En estos casos, que corresponden a 102 personas, también se acreditó la tortura o las lesiones a través denuncias, querellas o certificaciones médicas presentadas en la época o por otros documentos contemporáneos.

La Comisión está consciente que, pese al elevado número de víctimas y casos de detenciones y torturas reconocidos, ellos no constituyen la totalidad de personas que sufrieron prisión política y tortura durante el régimen militar, ya que en este proceso sólo se revisaron aquellos testimonios presentados a la Comisión dentro de los plazos definidos para ello, y como una decisión voluntaria de las personas de relatar sus experiencias. No obstante, se estima que se trata de un número significativo, suficiente para obtener conclusiones relevantes para la reparación de las víctimas y para el proceso de paz social, integración y aprendizaje de parte de la sociedad.

La Comisión realizó su labor dentro del mandato particular encomendado por el Presidente de la República y por lo tanto no se detuvo a examinar otros antecedentes judiciales o extrajudiciales de las víctimas, como tampoco los hechos a los cuales se vinculó -justificada o injustificadamente- a las víctimas, ya fueren anteriores a la prisión por razones políticas o tortura, o posteriores a éstas. Se analizó estrictamente la actuación de agentes del Estado respecto de las mismas, lo que, en muchos casos, no resultó fácil, pues se constató la participación de algunas víctimas en actos que habían significado, a su vez, la violación, muchas veces grave o muy grave, de los derechos de otras personas, uniformadas o civiles. Sin embargo, estas conductas han sido conocidas, investigadas y sancionadas por los organismos competentes, los que han aplicado castigos y sanciones. Nada de esto justifica, sin embargo, la reclusión en recintos secretos, ni menos la aplicación de torturas. En estos casos, la Comisión constató la presencia de elementos de convicción acerca de la privación de la libertad por motivaciones políticas, de la falta de garantías del debido proceso para su juzgamiento y el sometimiento a torturas. Nada justifica la violación del derecho que asiste a toda persona a ser juzgada y condenada en virtud de un debido proceso, ni nada justifica, repetimos, la práctica de la tortura.

PERSONAS QUE NO CALIFICARON COMO VÍCTIMAS DE PRISIÓN POLÍTICA Y TORTURA

Un número significativo de personas que presentó sus antecedentes a la Comisión no fueron reconocidas como víctimas de prisión por razones políticas y tortura, de acuerdo a la definición establecida en el mandato de ésta.

No fueron incluidas, conforme a lo prevenido en el inciso 2° del art. 1° del Decreto Supremo que creó a la Comisión, las personas privadas de libertad en manifestaciones públicas, que fueron puestas a disposición de los tribunales de policía local o de algún tribunal del crimen por delitos comunes y luego condenadas por estos delitos. Estas son 219 personas.

A su vez, 1.330 personas presentaron antecedentes de casos que constituirían violaciones a los derechos humanos, mas no prisión política o tortura. Dichos relatos se refieren a situaciones repudiables, en las que se habrían producido abusos que la Comisión reconoce como violaciones inadmisibles a derechos básicos, tales como allanamientos violentos a domicilios -muchos de ellos en operativos militares masivos que abarcaban a toda una población y dirigidos en su inmensa mayoría a sectores pobres de la sociedad-, amenazas graves y otros actos de amedrentamiento atentatorios al derecho a la seguridad personal, arrestos domiciliarios y otras formas de control, y el exilio, ordenado por decisiones extrajudiciales o por la conmutación de penas establecidas por consejos de guerra. La Comisión está consciente de los graves sufrimientos impuestos por estas decisiones de la autoridad de la época a muchas personas. Sin embargo, por tratarse de situaciones que están fuera de su mandato, los casos presentados fueron excluidos del proceso de reconocimiento.

Otra de las exigencias del proceso de calificación se refería a la existencia de motivación política de la detención, la que ha sido definida en el Informe. Por ello, no fueron declaradas víctimas aquellas personas cuya prisión o tortura no ocurrió por razones políticas, sino por abuso de poder de la autoridad o, en pocos casos, por delitos comunes. Ello no implica que la Comisión no rechace la práctica de la tortura con o sin motivación política en perjuicio de cualquier persona, lo que se desprende de las medidas de reparación propuestas en materia de prevenir la práctica de la tortura mediante una mejor regulación de la conducta policial, de las condiciones de detención y de la comparecencia en juicio.

Tampoco fueron declarados víctimas los detenidos no sobrevivientes, es decir, aquellos que fueron muertos durante su privación de libertad, de los cuales se presentaron 81 testimonios. Ello debido a que las situaciones de detenidos desaparecidos, ejecutados y torturados con resultado de muerte quedaron cubiertas por la Comisión Nacional de Verdad y Reconciliación o por la Corporación Nacional de Reparación o Reconciliación, que la sucedió, y han sido objeto de otras medidas de reparación derivadas de tal calidad.

Igualmente, se excluyen 34 casos de prisión política o tortura dispuesta o ejecutada fuera del territorio nacional, en los que los declarantes señalaron la intervención de agentes del Estado de Chile o de personas a su servicio. En efecto, sin desconocer que hubo coordinación entre organismos de seguridad de diversos países en la época, o de la actuación de agentes de seguridad del Estado de Chile en operaciones llevadas a cabo en el exterior, ambos hechos acreditados en procesos judiciales; escapa a las posibilidades indagatorias de la Comisión el dar por establecido el hecho de que, en los casos denunciados, participaron agentes del Estado de Chile. Ello en razón de que no puede presumirse la acción de agentes del Estado de Chile en detenciones ocurridas en el exterior por el sólo hecho de haber existido la referida coordinación entre organismos de seguridad. Concluir la participación de éstos en hechos concretos habría implicado identificar a personas específicas como partícipes de los hechos y acreditar su calidad de funcionarios públicos del Estado chileno. Ello habría implicado pronunciarse sobre la responsabilidad de personas individuales, hecho expresamente prohibido por el artículo 3 del Decreto Supremo 1.040 de 2003.

No fue posible declarar víctimas a personas que denunciaron privación de libertad o tortura durante el cumplimiento del servicio militar obligatorio, pues no fue posible determinar claramente las razones políticas de esos hechos. Se presentaron un total de 102 personas en tal situación.

Por otra parte, 6.845 casos, correspondientes al 19% de los casos recibidos, no fueron reconocidos como víctimas de prisión política y tortura por no reunir los elementos de juicio suficientes como para formarse convicción moral sobre los hechos relatados, sin perjuicio de haber propuesto la posibilidad de que, con nuevos antecedentes, puedan solicitar su reconsideración.

Finalmente, 5 peticionarios declararon haber sido víctimas de delitos contra las personas cometidos únicamente por particulares que no actuaban a nombre del Estado o no siendo posible acreditar la participación de agentes del Estado en los hechos. La Comisión ha considerado importante consignar dos situaciones particularmente relevantes en las que personas fueron secuestradas por grupos de oposición armada al régimen militar. Uno de ellos, Gonzalo Cruzat Valdés, tenía diez años al momento de los hechos, y el otro, Carlos Carreño Barrera, permaneció tres meses secuestrado. En ambos casos los secuestros tuvieron un gran impacto en sus vidas y en su entorno familiar. La Comisión rechaza estos hechos que atentan contra los derechos básicos de las personas, pero los excluyó de calificación por no existir antecedentes acerca de la participación de agentes del Estado ni de particulares a su servicio, según lo exige el decreto de creación de ésta.

Excepcionalmente, unos pocos casos no fueron objeto de calificación, aún reuniendo antecedentes para ello, por la expresa voluntad de los declarantes de ser excluidos del proceso para evitar que su nombre apareciera en un listado público de personas reconocidas como víctimas.

La Comisión recibió también los antecedentes de 232 personas que fueron remitidos una vez concluido el plazo de recepción de antecedentes, luego de seis meses de funcionamiento. Dichos antecedentes no fueron incluidos en el proceso de verificación y la Comisión no se pronuncia sobre su calificación.

Se ha decidido no divulgar la nómina de víctimas no calificadas, a quienes se les enviará una carta certificada al domicilio señalado en su presentación. Dicho listado será enviado al Presidente de la República con carácter de reservado, en caso que se establezca el proceso de reconsideración recomendado. Asimismo, se entregarán al Presidente con el mismo carácter los antecedentes presentados fuera de plazo.
